'Russian Scare' is Considered as Fading Today

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR NEW LOWS IN WHEAT PRICES

ADMITTED RUSSIAN SELLING HAD GREATLY INFLUENCED WORLD MARKETS

CHICAGO TRADERS BELIEVE THE "SCARE" HAS ABOUT PASSED LOCALLY

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—The "Russian scare," which has been held partially responsible for wild fluctuations and new lows on the world's grain exchanges the last few days, was considered as "fading" today, so far as the Chicago board of trade was concerned.

While it generally was admitted Russian selling activities had greatly influenced other world markets, and although the secret investigation by the business conduct committee of the Chicago board was being pushed, traders were of the belief that the "scare" had about passed locally.

Reports that the Farmers' National Grain Corporation was buying heavily in the Minneapolis exchange, to offset reported selling by Soviet Russia, revived the wheat market here and in Minneapolis yesterday after the grain, opening moderately high, fell to the lowest mark since January, 1907.

C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers' Union, which has members in 25 states, said last night it was probable his organization would enter into the investigation early in October.

"We are taking no action now," he said, "but will co-operate with other farmers' organizations of similar nature in protecting American agriculture against this invasion of our markets."

Washington, Sept. 25.—Indications that Soviet Russia, whose short selling operations in the Chicago wheat market brought heated charges of depressing prices, is now removing itself from the market, were seen today at the federal farm board.

Governor Samuel D. McKelvie, wheat member of the board, said action of the market, which rebounded three points in the last hour of trading yesterday, indicated the Soviet government is now "covering" its short sales by buying an equal amount.

Another factor in the market revival was reports the Farmers' National Grain Corporation was buying wheat in the Minneapolis exchange. Wheat for feeding purposes is being supplied farmers in the drought area through the Grain Corporation, the national co-operative formed under farm board auspices.

Meanwhile, Chairman Fish of the special house committee investigating officials of the Russian syndicate and the brokers who handled their selling orders. This will be done in New York Saturday after which the committee will continue its inquiry in Chicago beginning Monday.

In discussing the case, McKelvie stressed the importance of potential competition from the Soviet, saying Russia would export during 1930 from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, seven times what they sold abroad in 1929. The farm board member asserted there was evidence the grain is being "dumped" below prevailing prices.

Substantial improvement in wheat prices by mid-winter as a result of the use of approximately 150,000,000 bushels as feed for livestock was foreseen by McKelvie.

McKelvie said the Grain Stabilization Corporation was not involved in the Farmers' National Grain Corporation's program of supplying wheat for drought-stricken farmers and was not buying any 1930 wheat.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Chairman Legge of the farm board and Secretary of Commerce Lamont met today with representatives of the Chicago board of trade here in a conference which was understood to concern the short selling of wheat by Soviet Russia in the Chicago pit.

The board was represented by Silas H. Strawn, counsel, and James Norris, Peter P. Carey and Siebel C. Harris. The conferees refused to discuss the purpose of their meeting before entering the conference room at the department of agriculture.

Hoidale Charges Schall with Raising Cry of 'Alliance' Between Hoidale and Christianson

SAYS SENATOR IS USING IT AS A "SMOKE SCREEN"

HOIDALE SAYS HE HAS NO ALLIANCE WITH GOVERNOR OR ANY OTHER PERSON

MADE NO PLEDGE WITH ANY PERSON OR PARTY TO SECURE SUPPORT

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—Einar Hoidale, democratic senatorial candidate, today charged Senator Thomas D. Schall, republican nominee to succeed himself, had raised the cry of "alliance" between Hoidale and Governor Theodore Christianson as a "smoke screen."

"I do not hesitate to say that I have made no 'alliance' with Governor Christianson or any other person," the democratic candidate said. "I will go further and say that I have made no pledge or promise or deal with any person or party in order to obtain support."

Governor Christianson was defeated by Senator Schall in the primary election for the senatorial nomination on the republican ticket. This week the governor issued a statement supporting those republicans who he could vote for without apology.

"The senator should realize by this time that he is not campaigning against the governor now. I do not intend to stand for his misrepresentations, untruths and abuse. The senator's new plan of attack is a smoke screen to hide, or divert attention from his own backers, politicians whom he may consider undesirable company for a so-called 'progressive' in this campaign, namely Senator Moses, Ed Smith and E. W. Backus." Suggesting "some mysterious reason," Hoidale said the senator had continued his attacks on Christianson after the primary results had become known.

"The senator does not seem to realize that the primary is over," Hoidale said. "The governor is not a candidate in this campaign, but apparently the senator would prefer to make another campaign against him instead of against me."

Hoidale then continued: "If I am elected I will go into the U. S. senate a free man, under no obligations to politicians or anyone except the state of Minnesota and the people of this state."

"I am well aware that I have thousands of supporters outside of my own party, including farmer-labor men and women as well as republicans and independents. Hundreds of these people have talked to me and have explained the reasons why they are for me in preference to Sen. Schall. It is false and unfair for Sen. Schall, or anyone else, to intimate that this vast number of protesting voters have come to me because of any 'alliance.' They have very definite reasons of their own."

"In my Dawson speech I was concerned with Gov. Christianson's politics or his political future. My sole aim in making that speech was to point out Sen. Schall's disgraceful, unfair and unethical campaigns against Ole Sageng and Magnus Johnson as well as his campaign against the governor. I pointed out that for the fourth time similar mud-slinging tactics are being used in an effort to defeat me."

"This very proper comment upon political history of this state contributed by several Schall campaigns is now being twisted to give a false impression that there is an 'alliance.' I submit in all fairness that this is just another of Sen. Schall's many attempts to mislead the public."

"It is significant that in breaking his long silence the senator has carefully side-stepped all of the points I have raised against him, such as his abuse of the franking privilege, the duplicity of his tariff position, his attempts to steal Sen. Shipstead's credit in regard to the nine-foot channel, his mud-slinging campaign methods, and his betrayal of justice by his votes in the senate opposing investigation of the aluminum trust and opposing investigations of corruption in the senatorial primary elections in Pennsylvania and Illinois. There are many other matters that might be pointed out. He seeks to divert attention of the voters elsewhere."

Adolph Hitler Has 'No Time' for International Treaties of Germany

By ERIC KEYSER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Leipzig, Germany, Sept. 25.—Adolph Hitler, leader of the national socialist (fascist) party, told the federal court today that if he came into power in Germany, he would employ every means, including illegal ones, to evade the fulfillment of international treaties by Germany.

He stressed the assertion that he intended to grasp power in Germany only by legal means, but without referring specifically to the Versailles treaty or Young plan, he made it plain that he would go to any length to upset the post-war commitments accepted by previous governments.

STUDENT NURSE FIGHTS FOR LIFE

RESPIRATOR MACHINE ENABLES PARALYZED LUNGS TO FUNCTION

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—The gallant fight of 23-year-old Frances McGann, student nurse, to regain use of her paralyzed lungs was carried on today in the casket-like artificial respirator in which she has lived, except for brief intervals, for 14 days.

"Fighting Frances" as she now is called by physicians, was placed in the respirator after she became unable to breathe because of an attack of infantile paralysis.

The young woman smiled faintly as she started her 15th day in the glass enclosed box, only her head protruding. She was confident, physicians said, that she will recover.

For the first 12 days the smiling nurse was forced to remain in the respirator constantly. The last two days, however, she has been taken from it for short periods and her condition has shown steady improvement. So encouraged were the physicians that they announced she might fully recover.

REED SPONSORS ANTI-PROHIBITION STRONG PLATFORM

FORMER SENATOR URGES IMMEDIATE REPEAL OF VOLSTEAD ACT

REPEAL OF 18TH AMENDMENT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Washington, Sept. 25.—Former Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri today stood sponsor for one of the strongest anti-prohibition platforms thus far proposed. His program calls for:

1. Immediate repeal of the Volstead act.

2. Repeal of the eighteenth amendment as soon as possible.

3. State control of liquor without federal assistance but with each state having authority to seize liquor imported for distribution within its boundaries in interstate commerce.

This declaration by Reed, who returned several days ago from Europe, places him ahead of other possible democratic presidential nominees on the prohibition repeal program.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York has declared for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but for substitution of an amendment to protect state enforcement of prohibition. Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential nominee in 1928, is a prohibition supporter.

"The Volstead act should be repealed immediately," Reed declared in announcing his program. "It should have been written in blood by Draco and not by a modern legislature. It was drawn by fanatics who crowded into it all of the atrocities from all of the state laws."

Reed said he expected little to come from President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

"It is obvious now that the people of the United States have given this 'noble experiment' a thorough trial and that it has been the most ghastly failure of the century. It has created more crime than any other law in the past 100 years."

"I unhesitatingly say the time has come when prohibition is bound to be the issue and every person running for office should state his views."

"The present director of prohibition has certified to the absolute failure of prohibition by saying, it cannot be enforced without the active co-operation of state constabularies."

"That means it cannot be enforced unless the people of a state want it enforced and that we will have prohibition limited to certain districts."

Reed provided another campaign issue by charging the business depression to the tariff and government interference with business.

WM. H. MURRAY HELD ON CHARGE OF KILLING WIFE

DEED ALLEGED TO HAVE OCCURRED NEAR MCGREGOR, MINN., AUG. 9, 1929

HIS ALIBI WAS SO COMPLETE, STATE OPERATIVES SPENT YEAR SEEKING FLAWS

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—His alibi so complete and thorough that state operatives spent a year investigating the case, William H. Murray, 42, was held today on a charge of killing his wife near McGregor, Minn., on Aug. 9, 1929.

Suspensions of the investigators were aroused, they said, when Murray was able to give them the most detailed story of where he had been visiting in South Dakota when his wife was killed. They could not break down his alibi at once but spent considerable time during the past year trying to find weaknesses.

Mrs. Clara Hefley, 52, McGregor restaurant owner, was arrested last Monday after the operatives obtained indictments from an Aitkin county grand jury against her and Murray. Mrs. Hefley lived near the Murray home at the time Mrs. Murray's body was found in some underbrush at Lake Minnewawa, ten miles from McGregor. Her head was crushed and her throat cut.

Murray will be turned over to Aitkin County Sheriff Carl Lind for hearing in that county's courts.

EUCCHARISTIC CONGRESS IS NEARING CLOSE

SUCCESSION OF SOLEMN AND COLORFUL CEREMONIES ARE HELD

LAY AND CLERIC DELEGATES PRESENT FROM PRACTICALLY EVERY PARISH

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—The 1930 national Eucharistic Congress neared its close today after a succession of solemn and colorful ceremonies witnessed by lay and cleric Catholic delegates from practically every parish in the United States.

Concluding sessions of the congress, the first since 1911, were held in the various cathedrals and churches of the city. The concluding address was to be delivered by the Right Rev. Joseph T. Schrembs, Cleveland bishop.

More than 85,000 persons were expected to witness the final ceremony the solemn procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament—in which all visiting clergy were to participate.

In response to the intonations of the Rev. Michael J. Rippe, O. P., of New York, the multitude renewed an oath recognizing the divine authority of Christ. Thousands of lighted candles held aloft in the darkness of the stadium lent an eerie touch to the scene.

Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago delivered the Holy Name address. He spoke from a dais on which were seated an imposing assembly of Catholic churchmen, including most Reverend Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, papal representative, Bishop Schrembs, national protector, five archbishops, 56 bishops and 12 abbots.

A message from President Hoover expressing "appreciation of the value of spiritual ideals and religious observance," was read.

CAUGHT IN SNOW STORM, ATTEMPT EMERGENCY LANDING

SHIP ENROUTE FROM CALGARY TO MOOSE JAW, SASKATCHEWAN

PAT HOLDEN, PILOT, WAS OF ROYAL FLYING CORPS DURING WAR

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—Three persons were killed when a Western Canada Airway plane crashed near a beacon at Southesk, Alta., it was reported here today.

The dead were: Pat Holden, pilot, Calgary, Alta. C. McDonald and J. G. Gibson, passengers, both of Calgary.

The ship was enroute from Calgary to Moose Jaw, Sask. After the crash, the plane burned.

Hollick Kenyon, pilot for the west-bound plane, was ordered to keep a close watch for the missing plane this morning. He reported the wreckage near the beacon light at the Alberta village.

Airmen said the pilot apparently got caught in a snow storm and tried to make a landing on the emergency field.

Kenyon was unable to land and went to Calgary where he notified officials of his company.

Holden's plane was reported missing Wednesday but owing to disrupted wire communication between Moose Jaw and Calgary, it was impossible to check up on his movements.

Holden, who was a member of the Royal Flying Corps during the world war, is survived by a wife and one child who live at Moose Jaw.

Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., Sept. 25.—Two army airplanes left here shortly before noon today to investigate a report that a plane piloted by Lieut. Hobart Steely, Selfridge Field, had crashed near Effingham, Ill.

Frustrate Plot to Extort Thousands from Beauty Parlor Owners

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—A plot to extort thousands of dollars from Illinois beauty parlor owners was believed frustrated today by assistant state's attorneys who are leading Judge John P. McGorty's drive against racketeers.

The attorneys, Charles J. Mueller and Charles Lounsbury, declared that the arrest of four men and a confession by one of them formed the most important step ever taken in Chicago to break up gangs of hoodlums who have reaped enormous profits by use of violence to gain control of labor, business and professional organizations.

The men arrested were Emery T. Erickson, J. M. Baran, Frank W. Crawley, and James L. Howard, the latter an ex-convict.

Erickson, who called himself executive secretary of the Central Lake View Association of Commerce, was the one said to have told details of the plot.

The plan was, prosecutors said, to force, by threats of bombings, all of Chicago's 3,000 beauty parlor owners to join the organization. Six thousand others in the state were to be "enrolled" later, as an initiation fee and $2 a month thereafter. If they didn't pay, their shops were bombed. Six such bombings have occurred within the last ten days.

W. Backus."

Suggesting "some mysterious reason," Hoidale said the senator had continued his attacks on Christianson after the primary results had become known.

"The senator does not seem to realize that the primary is over," Hoidale said. "The governor is not a candidate in this campaign, but apparently the senator would prefer to make another campaign against him instead of against me."

Hoidale then continued: "If I am elected I will go into the U. S. senate a free man, under no obligations to politicians or anyone except the state of Minnesota and the people of this state."

"I am well aware that I have thousands of supporters outside of my own party, including farmer-labor men and women as well as republicans and independents. Hundreds of these people have talked to me and have explained the reasons why they are for me in preference to Sen. Schall. It is false and unfair for Sen. Schall, or anyone else, to intimate that this vast number of protesting voters have come to me because of any 'alliance.' They have very definite reasons of their own."

"In my Dawson speech I was concerned with Gov. Christianson's politics or his political future. My sole aim in making that speech was to point out Sen. Schall's disgraceful, unfair and unethical campaign against Ole Sageng and Magnus Johnson as well as his campaign against the governor. I pointed out that for the fourth time similar mud-slinging tactics are being used in an effort to defeat me."

"This very proper comment upon political history of this state contributed by several Schall campaigns is now being twisted to give a false impression that there is an 'alliance.' I submit in all fairness that this is just another of Sen. Schall's many attempts to mislead the public."

"It is significant that in breaking his long silence the senator has carefully side-stepped all of the points I have raised against him, such as his abuse of the franking privilege, the duplicity of his tariff position, his attempts to steal Sen. Shipstead's credit in regard to the nine-foot channel, his mud-slinging campaign methods, and his betrayal of justice by his votes in the senate opposing investigation of the aluminum trust and opposing investigations of corruption in the senatorial primary elections in Pennsylvania and Illinois. There are many other matters that might be pointed out. He seeks to divert attention of the voters elsewhere."

Adolph Hitler Has 'No
Time' for International
Treaties of Germany

By ERIC KEYSER
United Press Staff Correspondent

Leipzig, Germany, Sept. 25.—Adolph Hitler, leader of the national socialist (fascist) party, told the federal court today that if he came into power in Germany, he would employ every means, including illegal ones, to evade the fulfillment of international treaties by Germany.

He stressed the assertion that he intended to grasp power in Germany only by legal means, but without referring specifically to the Versailles treaty or Young plan, he made it plain that he would go to any length to upset the post-war commitments accepted by previous governments.

STUDENT NURSE
FIGHTS FOR LIFE

RESPIRATOR MACHINE ENABLES PARALYZED LUNGS TO FUNCTION

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—The gallant fight of 23-year-old Frances McGann, student nurse, to regain use of her paralyzed lungs was carried on today in the casket-like artificial respirator in which she has lived, except for brief intervals, for 14 days.

"Fighting Frances" as she now is called by physicians, was placed in the respirator after she became unable to breathe because of an attack of infantile paralysis.

The young woman smiled faintly as she started her 15th day in the glass enclosed box, only her head protruding. She was confident, physicians said, that she will recover.

For the first 12 days the smiling nurse was forced to remain in the respirator constantly. The last two days, however, she has been taken from it for short periods and her condition has shown steady improvement. So encouraged were the physicians that they announced she might fully recover.

PAIR OF FORT SNELLING SOLDIERS
CONFESS STAGING 6
ROBBERIES IN MONTH

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—Captured by radio police as they were about to stage an oil station holdup, two Ft. Snelling soldiers today confessed they had staged six robberies this month. Search is under way for a third soldier who is alleged to have been the driver of the bandit car.

The six holdups netted the bandits $316, Police Chief Thomas A. Brown said. The two men were reported to have signed confessions obtained by Charles J. Tierney, acting junior captain of detectives.

The two men give their names as Elmo H. Theudeus, 21, Des Moines, and Claude M. Jacks, 21, Brinkley, Ark. Both are members of Co. D, 3rd Infantry.

Their arrest came half an hour after they obtained $40 in a holdup of a Phillips Petroleum Co. station Wednesday night. They locked G. A. Rasmussen, attendant, in a washroom and fled. Rasmussen freed himself and notified police, who broadcast the alarm to radio police.

In their confession they said they were just about to enter a filling station when the police caught them, police said. They are reported to have confessed to six holdups.

REED SPONSORS
ANTI-PROHIBITION
STRONG PLATFORM

FORMER SENATOR URGES IMMEDIATE REPEAL OF VOLSTEAD ACT

REPEAL OF 18TH AMENDMENT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
Washington, Sept. 25.—Former Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri today stood sponsor for one of the strongest anti-prohibition platforms thus far proposed. His program calls for:

1. Immediate repeal of the Volstead act.
2. Repeal of the eighteenth amendment as soon as possible.
3. State control of liquor without federal assistance but with each state having authority to seize liquor imported for distribution within its boundaries in interstate commerce.

This declaration by Reed, who returned several days ago from Europe, places him ahead of other possible democratic presidential nominees on the prohibition repeal program.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York has declared for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but for substitution of an amendment to protect state enforcement of prohibition.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential nominee in 1928, is a prohibition supporter. "The Volstead act should be repealed immediately," Reed declared in announcing his program. "It should have been written in blood by Draco and not by a modern legislature. It was drawn by fanatics who crowded into it all of the atrocities from all of the state laws."

Reed said he expected little to come from President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

"It is obvious now that the people of the United States have given this 'noble experiment' a thorough trial and that it has been the most ghastly failure of the century. It has created more crime than any other law in the past 100 years."

"I unhesitatingly say the time has come when prohibition is bound to be the issue and every person running for office should state his views."

"The present director of prohibition has certified to the absolute failure of prohibition by saying, it cannot be enforced without the active co-operation of state constabularies."

"That means it cannot be enforced unless the people of a state want it enforced and that we will have prohibition limited to certain districts."

Reed provided another campaign issue by charging the business depression to the tariff and government interference with business.

Notified police, who broadcast the alarm to radio police.

In their confession they said they were just about to enter a filling station when the police caught them, police said. They are reported to have confessed to six holdups.

WM. H. MURRAY

OF KILLING WIFE

DEED ALLEGED TO HAVE OCCURRED NEAR MCGREGOR, MINN., AUG. 9, 1929

His alibi was so complete, state operatives spent a year investigating the case, William H. Murray, 42, was held today on a charge of killing his wife near McGregor, Minn., on Aug. 9, 1929.

Suspicions of the investigators were aroused, they said, when Murray was able to give them the most detailed story of where he had been visiting in South Dakota when his wife was killed. They could not break down his alibi at once but spent considerable time during the past year trying to find weaknesses.

Mrs. Clara Hefley, 52, McGregor restaurant owner, was arrested last Monday after the operatives obtained indictments from an Aitkin county grand jury against her and Murray.

Mrs. Hefley lived near the Murray home at the time Mrs. Murray's body was found in some underbrush at Lake Minnewawa, ten miles from McGregor. Her head was crushed and her throat cut.

Murray will be turned over to Aitkin County Sheriff Carl Lind for hearing in that county's courts.

ARE HELD

LAY AND CLERIC DELEGATES
PRESENT FROM PRACTICALLY EVERY PARISH

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—The 1930 national Eucharistic Congress neared its close today after a succession of solemn and colorful ceremonies witnessed by lay and cleric Catholic delegates from practically every parish in the United States.

Concluding sessions of the congress, the first since 1911, were held in the various cathedrals and churches of the city. The concluding address was to be delivered by the Right Rev. Joseph T. Schrembs, Cleveland bishop.

More than 85,000 persons were expected to witness the final ceremony the solemn procession of the Most Blessed Sacrament—in which all visiting clergy were to participate.

In response to the intonations of the Rev. Michael J. Rippe, O. P., of New York, the multitude renewed an oath recognizing the divine authority of Christ. Thousands of lighted candles held aloft in the darkness of the stadium lent an eerie touch to the scene.

Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago delivered the Holy Name address. He spoke from a dais on which were seated an imposing assembly of Catholic churchmen, including most Reverend Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, papal representative, Bishop Schrembs, national protector, five archbishops, 56 bishops and 12 abbots.

A message from President Hoover expressing "appreciation of the value of spiritual ideals and religious observance," was read.

Thomasville, Ga., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—A mob described by county authorities as numbering approximately "1,000" stormed the county jail today, took into custody Willie Kirkland, negro, and lynched him for an alleged attempted attack upon a white girl, Wednesday afternoon.

Within half an hour after the raid, members of the mob returned to town and threw the body of the victim into the street, then dispersed. Kirkland, identified three times by a nine-year old white girl as the man who attempted the assault, was shot to death in a woods near here.

PAT HOLDEN, PILOT, WAS OF ROYAL FLYING CORPS
DURING WAR

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—Three persons were killed when a Western Canada Airway plane crashed near a beacon at Southesk, Alta., it was reported here today.

The dead were: Pat Holden, pilot, Calgary, Alta. C. McDonald and J. G. Gibson, passengers, both of Calgary.

The ship was enroute from Calgary to Moose Jaw, Sask. After the crash, the plane burned.

Hollick Kenyon, pilot for the west-bound plane, was ordered to keep a close watch for the missing plane this morning. He reported the wreckage near the beacon light at the Alberta village.

Airmen said the pilot apparently got caught in a snow storm and tried to make a landing on the emergency field.

Kenyon was unable to land and went to Calgary where he notified officials of his company.

Holden's plane was reported missing Wednesday but owing to disrupted wire communication between Moose Jaw and Calgary, it was impossible to check up on his movements.

Holden, who was a member of the Royal Flying Corps during the world war, is survived by a wife and one child who live at Moose Jaw.

Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., Sept. 25.—Two army airplanes left here shortly before noon today to investigate a report that a plane piloted by Lieut. Hobart Steely, Selfridge Field, had crashed near Effingham, Ill.

Frustrate Plot to Extort Thousands from Beauty Parlor Owners

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—A plot to extort thousands of dollars from Illinois beauty parlor owners was believed frustrated today by assistant state's attorneys who are leading Judge John P. McGoorty's drive against racketeers.

The attorneys, Charles J. Mueller and Charles Lounsbury, declared that the arrest of four men and a confession by one of them formed the most important step ever taken in Chicago to break up gangs of hoodlums who have reaped enormous profits by use of violence to gain control of labor, business and professional organizations.

The men arrested were Emery T. Erickson, J. M. Baran, Frank W. Crawley, and James L. Howard, the latter an ex-convict.

Erickson, who called himself executive secretary of the Central Lake View Association of Commerce, was the one said to have told details of the plot.

The plan was, prosecutors said, to force, by threats of bombings, all of Chicago's 3,000 beauty parlor owners to join the organization. Six thousand others in the state were to be "enrolled" later. Each owner was to be assessed $10 as an initiation fee and $2 a month thereafter. If they didn't pay, their shops were bombed. Six such bombings have occurred within the last ten days.

Flower Motif Carried
Out in Detail at a
Delightful Luncheon

One of the most charming and novel parties of the season was given at the home of Mrs. F. S. Parker on Wednesday afternoon, the hostesses being Mrs. Parker and daughter, Mrs. R. T. Campbell and Mrs. R. J. Hartley. It was a floral bridge luncheon.

On entering, the guests were invited to take a boutonniere and select their table mates. Although not required to do so, many chose to select them by matching flowers. The small tables, covered with exquisite linen, were bare except for bouquets in the center of each. But at each place were square boxes, beautifully enameled and each was decorated with a bunch of artificial flowers and gauze. Curiosity ran high, before consent was given to lift the box covers, and then there was a long-drawn-out expression of surprise and delight. Inside was a plate filled with all sorts of good things to tempt the palate and ravish the eye. And here, too, the flower motif was continued. The chicken salad had green lettuce sepals, petals of red, ripe tomatoes and egg-yolk pollen where the stamens would be while rose and green puffs added still more floral coloring to the plate. Even the loaf sugar was decorated with tiny candy roses and violets. But the climax came when the ice cream roses and daisies appeared, served with spirits with sprays of candy flowers held in place by icing.

The house was gorgeously decorated with autumn flowers and these, added to the appointments of an exceptionally beautiful and artistic home, made a perfect setting for a most delightful social occasion.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. A. Smith, of Baudette, Fedames Larned and Wilcox of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. R. H. Emmerson of Minot. First prize was awarded to Mrs. Betsy Bratrud and second prize to Mrs. J. F. Casey.

Flower Motif Carried Out in Detail at a Delightful Luncheon

One of the most charming and novel parties of the season was given at the home of Mrs. F. S. Parker on Wednesday afternoon, the hostesses being Mrs. Parker and daughter, Mrs. R. T. Campbell and Mrs. R. J. Hartley. It was a floral bridge luncheon.

On entering, the guests were invited to take a boutonniere and select their table mates. Although not required to do so, many chose to select them by matching flowers. The small tables, covered with exquisite linen, were bare except for bouquets in the center of each. But at each place were square boxes, beautifully enameled and each was decorated with a bunch of artificial flowers and gauze. Curiosity ran high, before consent was given to lift the box covers, and then there was a long-drawn-out expression of surprise and delight. Inside was a plate filled with all sorts of good things to tempt the palate and ravish the eye. And here, too, the flower motif was continued. The chicken salad had green lettuce sepals, petals of red, ripe tomatoes and egg-yolk pollen where the stamens would be while rose and green puffs added still more floral coloring to the plate. Even the loaf sugar was decorated with tiny candy roses and violets. But the climax came when the ice cream roses and daisies appeared, served with spritzes with sprays of candy flowers held in place by icing.

The house was gorgeously decorated with autumn flowers and these, added to the appointments of an exceptionally beautiful and artistic home, made a perfect setting for a most delightful social occasion.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. A. Smith, of Baudette, Fredames Larned and Wilcox of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. R. H. Emmerson of Minot.

First prize was awarded to Mrs. Betsy Bratrud and second prize to Mrs. J. F. Caspy.

The Judgeship

THE committee in charge of the candidacy of Senator Alfred Thwing for District Judge is running a series of ads in the Daily Dispatch in which they allege various reasons why Mr. Thwing should be elected Judge of this district.

Among other reasons they say Mr. Thwing is a good lawyer, and has the poise to make a good judge. This is undoubtedly true, but it is equally true and to a greater extent of Judge Ryan, the present incumbent, who has been long considered one of the outstanding lawyers of Northern Minnesota, and whose work on the bench since his appointment has established a record for judicial poise and fairness in a marked degree.

The committee also unfairly, it seems to us, tries to create prejudice against Judge Ryan by intimating the Governor showed undue haste in appointing him after receiving Judge McClenahan's application for retirement, and not consulting the voters. Judge Ryan's appointment did follow immediately Judge McClenahan's retirement but the need was great, and the Governor performed his whole duty to the community in appointing a person as well qualified as Judge Ryan, and that the voters of the district do not resent his promptness is shown by the fact that Judge Ryan received a very large plurality over the other candidates at the primaries.

Brainerd and Crow Wing County has had one of the judges of the Fifteenth District residing here since the district was formed, not only because its importance entitles it to have, but because its location in the district makes it the most convenient place for a resident judge.

This fact, with Judge Ryan's superior qualifications, should make it a privilege for every voter of this city and county and other parts of the district to re-elect him to the position he is filling so satisfactorily.

Barber Shops of the Future

THE barber shops of 1935 will be a "glorification" of present tonsorial establishments, with many college graduates plying the trade, is the prediction of C. A. Belmont, an officer of the Associated Barbers of America.

Belmont says that since the women began patronizing the barber shops, the latter have become more refined. And due to continued influence of women the shop of the future will become a most ornate establishment.

He maintains that the future of barbering is bright. Belmont discourages shaving women's necks for he claims it gives her a porcupine neck and nobody wants to kiss that kind of a neck.

The World War made a great cut in the business of shaving. Business lost that way has never been regained. The entry of women as customers was a godsend for the profession.

THE claim is made that iron has been discovered near Spring Valley in southern Minnesota. Tests, it is reported, are to be made by T. H. Merritt, nephew of the late Leonidas Merritt. Hitherto the South Cuyuna iron range marked the southern limits in Crow Wing and Morrison counties.

St. Paul, Sept. 25.—(U.P.)—A decrease of $762,178 in the net railway operating income of the Northern Pacific for the month of August this year compared with August 1929, was announced in the monthly report of revenues and expenses of the company. RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orellets has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orellet at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Economy Drug Co., Johnson's Pharmacy, advt.

Rail President Slain

As the climax of a bitter quarrel in the offices of the Western Maryland railroad at Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23, Maxwell C. Byers (above), president of the road, was shot and killed, and Dudley G. Gray, vice president in charge of traffic, was fatally wounded. The two men were alone in the office of the president when the shooting occurred.

To Try Ex-Sheriff

The first testimony in the trial of Loyal Wright (above), former "boy sheriff" of Juneau County, Wis., charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of District Attorney Clinton Price, will probably be taken today. Price was shot to death last April 13 at his home in Mauston, Wis.

Ends Piles Quick

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. Cutting and external remedies can't do this—an internal medicine must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success right in this city that H. P. Dunn and Johnson's Pharmacy say to every Pile sufferer, try HEM-ROID at our risk. It must end all Pile agony or you get your money back. adv.

SHARKEY CONFIDENT HE WILL WIN TONIGHT

15 ROUND BOUT IS SET FOR THE YANKEE STADIUM

MEMORY OF SHARKEY'S DISMAL FAILURES AGAINST SCOTT, SCHEMELING PERSISTS

MATCH MAY BE BIGGEST FINANCIAL FLOP SINCE TUNNEY-HEENEY FIGHT IN 1923

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Sept. 25.—Jack Sharkey of Boston will attempt to hold his place in the front ranks of the heavyweight contenders for Max Schmeling's title when he meets Vittorio Campolo of Argentina in a 15-round bout at Yankee Stadium tonight.

Memory of Sharkey's two dismal failures against Phil Scott and Max Schmeling is still fresh in the minds of fight fans and tonight's match promises to be the biggest financial flop since the Tunney-Heeney bout in 1923.

With Sharkey guaranteed $100,000, Madison Square Garden will have to gross about $150,000 to break even on the bout. Campolo is getting $7,500, the rental promises to take about $15,000 and when the other odds and ends are added the total outlay may exceed $150,000.

The advance sale up to today had barely reached the $70,000 mark, and the Garden's last minute decision to allow the fight to be broadcast, selling this privilege for $15,000, was expected to keep away many more prospective customers. The prices are scaled from $2.10 to $15.75. The crowd is not expected to exceed 25,000.

Sharkey was a 3 to 1 favorite in the betting today, but the big Bostonian has blown so many chances in the past that quite a few critics believed Campolo was no worse than an even shot.

Campolo has trained hard for his big chance, while Sharkey has been inclined to take his training more or less casually. Sharkey himself predicts a knockout inside of five rounds, sizing Campolo up as easy to floor after seeing Salvatore Ruggirello score a knockdown on him in his last bout in Boston.

The South American's best, and perhaps, sole chance for victory rests in his right hand which enabled him to knock out Tom Heenev in nine rounds.

Campolo will carry something like 20 pounds advantage in weight, 6½ inches in height and 9½ inches in reach, but the chances are all this bulk will prove a handicap to him. Campolo expects to weigh 221, Sharkey 199.

Tonight's bout will be the first important heavyweight match staged under the New York commission's new non-foul rule. Both gladiators will wear foul-proof protectors, and the bout cannot end in a foul from a low punch. It was Sharkey who caused the rule to be passed following his low punch against Schmeling last June.

BAND GIVES CITY TEAM SUPPORT AGAINST ST. PAUL

Giving their support to the Brainerd baseball team, members of the city Municipal Band were tooting their horns and otherwise playing instruments at the Brainerd-St. Paul baseball game this afternoon at the municipal field which started at 4:15 P. M.

Half an hour before the game, fans started pouring into the stands. The largest crowd to witness a baseball game since the Brainerd-St. Louis game is predicted.

The St. Paul team arrived in Brainerd last evening with 15 players. They looked for their third straight victory on their road tour through the northwest.

Brainerd fans hoped against odds for a victory, but considered such chances remote because of the strength of the visitors, they having finished in second place in the American Association.

CAPT. BROCKMEYER, WALTER HASS, SWARTZ, LECKSELL IN THE BACKFIELD

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 25.—(UP)—Pass plays of the South Dakota State offensive were used for long gains against the varsity by the University of Minnesota scrub team yesterday.

Although the gold team, coached in South Dakota maneuvers by Assistant Coach Frank McCormick and Sig Harris, was unable to gain through the line or around the ends, time and again long passes from Gordon to Battaglia, Griffen and Harry Hall would have resulted in touchdowns. The play was kept in the middle of the field, however.

The line-up of the Maroons or first team gave a hint as to the final line-up of the team against South Dakota State here Saturday. It included a backfield made up of Captain Win Brockmeyer, Walter Hass, Swartz and Lecksell; in the line, Stein, center; Gross and Reihsen, guards; Berry and Munn, tackles, and Anderson and Ohlson, ends.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 25.—Michigan will run through a final scrimmage today in preparation for Saturday's game with Dennison and Michigan State Normal. Yesterday's drill indicated that the starting line-up will include Hewitt and Daniels, ends; Gitman and Purdum, tackles; Lajeunesse and Cornwell, guards; Morrison, center; Teasman, quarter; Simmler, center; Dekaber, halfbacks; and Cox, fullback.

Collegeville, Minn., Sept. 25.—First string fullback Gust Luckenmeyer of St. Cloud may be lost to St. John's University football team for the game here Saturday with St. Paul Luther.

Luckenmeyer received a severe bump on the head during scrimmage yesterday. He will be replaced by Krumwide.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 25.—With the addition of Walter Gnabach, promising tackle, who passed a special examination Tuesday, all members of the Wisconsin football squad are eligible. Coach Thistlethwaite was pleased with the improved offensive work in yesterday's drill.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 25.—(UP)—The second game of the "Little World Series" between the Rochester International League and Louisville American Association teams scheduled for today was postponed because of rain.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The Rochester Red Wings, International League champions, hoped to even the Junior World Series in the second game here today against the Louisville-Colonels, American Association winners, after losing the opener, 7-3, before a crowd of 10,000 persons yesterday.

The Red Wings out-hit the Colonels yesterday, 11 to 9, but could not bunt their blows off Phil Wehert, Louisville southpaw. Paul Derringer, who started for Rochester, retired the Colonels in order in the first three innings, but yielded six runs in the fourth inning when the visitors made four hits, and were aided by two walks and two errors.

After today's game the two teams will rest Friday and resume the series with games here Saturday and Sunday after which they go to Louisville to complete the series. The first team to annex five games will win the play-off.

HAWKEYES MAKE NO CLAIMS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

WHEN SCHEDULES WERE MADE LAST YEAR, IOWA WAS UNDER SUSPENSION

WHEN BAN WAS LIFTED, PURDUE WAS ONLY SCHOOL TO FIND OPEN DATE

Following is the ninth article of the United Press series on Big Ten conference football prospects. Friday's article will discuss the University of Wisconsin.

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Sept. 25.—(UP)—Iowa will complete its 1930 Big Ten conference season either with a percentage of 1,000 or with a .000 rating, but, regardless of their standing, the Hawkeyes will make no claim at championship honors.

When schedules were made last fall, Iowa was under suspension for subsidizing athletics and when the ban was lifted Purdue was the only Big Ten school which was able to find an open date for the Hawk.

With only one conference game scheduled Iowa booked an impressive makeshift schedule including the following games: Sept. 27—Bradley at Iowa; Oct. 4—Oklahoma Aggies at Iowa; Oct. 11—Centenary at Iowa; Oct. 18—Purdue at Iowa; Nov. 1—Detroit at Detroit; Nov. 8—Marquette at Milwaukee; Nov. 15—Penn State at Iowa; Nov. 22—Nebraska at Iowa.

The makeshift schedule enables Ingwersen to make his plans with no thought of conference standings and gives him an opportunity to concentrate on sophomores and juniors in order to develop a team that will be able to hold its own in the next years Big Ten when the Hawkeyes will be back with a full program.

Although the new men are receiving most of the attention, Ingwersen already has indicated that he will spare no efforts to make a clean sweep of the 1930 schedule.

Only nine of last year's 21 major lettermen are available, the losses including Glasgow, All-American back, Farroh and Pope, star halfbacks; and Westra, Roberts and Magnusson, stalwarts of the 1929 line.

The returning lettermen include only three regulars from last year—Ronge and Reedwulst, ends, and Ely, tackle. The others—Leo and Lloyd Jensvoile, quarterbacks; Sansen, fullback; Benjamin, tackle; Mastrogany, end; and Higdon, guard, saw service as reserves.

Ely, a center, and Warrington, a halfback, are the only sophomores who appear capable of holding down regular berths.

Reedwulst, Ronge and Mastrogany are expected to divide the end assignment in Saturday's opening game, with Dolly at center; Ely and Benjamin at tackles and Higdon and Tompkins from last year's B team at guards.

The Jensenold twins probably will divide the quarterback duties, with Sansen at fullback, Warrington, triple-threat sophomore, is slated for duty at one halfback.

Cauliflower Scramblings

AT New York City tonight Jack Sharkey, one of the ablest and unluckiest boxers in heavyweight history, will practically start again at the bottom of the ladder leading to the championship when he battles Victorio Campolo, Madison Square Garden's $40,000 investment in Argentine cauliflower preferred. If Sharkey can't stop the huge but crude gauchito within fifteen rounds, even his own title dreams will end. Should Campolo win, especially by a knockout, he would loom as ominously as the "outlaw," Primo Carnera.

The winner of tonight's affair is expected to be matched with W. L. (Young) Stribling for the big Winter show at Miami next February, the outcome of which will determine Champion Max Schmeling's probable defense of his title next Summer.

Through the utmost in smart management, Sharkey compelled the Garden to guarantee him $100,000 (with an option of 40 per cent of the receipts) for this Campolo go. The promoters hated to do that, but, when Jack seemed on the verge of signing for a September bout with Carnera at Chicago, the Garden just had to come through. That $100,000 "nut" looks like a tremendous "pound of flesh." And—more than one of the Garden's "Six Hundred Millionaires" will not be displeased if their $40,000 investment (you know the Garden bought American rights to "Camp" for that amount) flattens Sharkey, the shrewd business man, tonight.

Now that Tommy Freeman has won the world's welterweight crown on a close decision over Jackie Thompson some sport bugs may not recognize him as champ until he's been beaten by Young Corbett III, who twice thrashed his predecessors in overweight matches, the title not being at stake.

Champion Schmeling may visit America sooner than expected now that Carnera will return to Europe, where he is matched with Paulino for a Barcelona showing late next fall. The Basque is still a Spanish sport hero, but can you picture his golden grin and squat figure hoisted on the petard of one of Primo's uppercuts? That should produce some scrambled cauliflowers, indeed!

DAVIDSON JAILED ON OLD SENTENCE

Suspension of 12 Days on 60 Day Sentence Last Spring Revoked by Judge

FACES ASSAULT COUNT

Hearing in Case of Son Assaulting Father Set for Next Monday

A 12 day suspension of a 60 day sentence granted for one year subject to good behavior was revoked this morning as Judge J. H. Warner ordered Eugene Davidson, father beater, back to a cell in the city jail.

Davidson had served 48 days for assaulting his aged father, John Davidson last spring. At the expiration of that time he was brought into municipal court and told that if he molested his parent again and was not on good behavior for a year he would be required to serve the remaining 12 days which was then suspended.

The 45 year old son then promised Judge Warner he would be on good behavior and would be considerate to his 70 year old father.

Wednesday morning Davidson was taken into custody by city police who asserted that the man again beat up his father severely.

Davidson was arraigned today on the charge of assault in the second degree. His hearing was set for next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

God. Most of the message was given over however to what God was doing or had done to restore the fallen. Rev. Peterson's subject for tonight will be "God's X-ray" and then tomorrow night he will bring a message on divine healing.

CARDS HAVE A CHANCE NOW TO CLINCH FLAG

IF CARDS DEFEAT PITTSBURGH, CUBS LOSE TO CINCINNATI, IT'S ALL OVER

DIZZY DECLINE OF BROOKLYN ROBINS CONTINUES, LOSE 7TH STRAIGHT GAME

(By United Press) The St. Louis Cardinals had a chance today to clinch the National League pennant. If the Cardinals should win from Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs lose to Cincinnati, St. Louis would clinch the flag. Even if the Cards dropped their three remaining games after today and the Cubs won their next three games, St. Louis would finish one game ahead as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	90	64	.584
Chicago	89	65	.578

The Cardinals can clinch the flag by winning two of their remaining four games, regardless of what the Cubs do in their four remaining games. If the Cubs lose one game, the best they can do is tie for the pennant even if the Cardinals should lose four in a row to the Pirates. The standing of the two leaders before today's games follows:

W. L. Pct. Gb. Tp.
St. Louis 89 61 .593 4
Chicago 86 64 .573 3 4
The dizzy decline of the Brooklyn Robins continued yesterday when they lost their seventh straight game and dropped to fourth place. The last place Phillies beat the Robins, 6-3, and enabled the idle New York Giants to move into third place, half a game ahead of the Robins. Brooklyn's losing streak comes on the heels of their 11-game winning spurt, longest of the season, which hoisted them to the top only to start their descent.
In the other National League game Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati, 5-2, the game being halted after five innings by rain.
The Boston Red Sox defeated Washington in the only American League game, 6-3.

BUICK TORQUE TUBE DRIVE

Of course it costs more money to embody the Torque Tube drive principle in Buick cars. But this extra expense is more than returned in increased roadability, handling ease, dependability, and long life.

With the style, luxury and sturdiness of Buick's bodies by Fisher—with the performance and trouble-free dependability of Buick's famous valve-in-head engine—and with the sturdy endurance to carry on for thousands and thousands of miles—a used Buick offers you more for the same money than any other car you could buy.

CARDS HAVE A CHANCE NOW TO CLINCH FLAG

IF CARDS DEFEAT PITTSBURGH,
CUBS LOSE TO CINCINNATI,
IT'S ALL OVER

DIZZY DECLINE OF BROOKLYN ROBINS CONTINUES, LOSE 7TH STRAIGHT GAME

(By United Press)
The St. Louis Cardinals had a chance today to clinch the National League pennant. If the Cardinals should win from Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cubs lose to Cincinnati, St. Louis would clinch the flag. Even if the Cards dropped their three remaining games after today and the Cubs won their next three games, St. Louis would finish one game ahead as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	90	64	.584
Chicago	89	65	.578

The Cardinals can clinch the flag by winning two of their remaining four games, regardless of what the Cubs do in their four remaining games. If the Cubs lose one game, the best they can do is tie for the pennant even if the Cardinals should lose four in a row to the Pirates.

The standing of the two leaders before today's games follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	89	61	.593
Chicago	86	64	.573

The dizzy decline of the Brooklyn Robins continued yesterday when they lost their seventh straight game and dropped to fourth place. The last-place Phillies beat the Robins, 6-3, and enabled the idle New York Giants to move into third place, half a game ahead of the Robins. Brooklyn's losing streak comes on the heels of their 11-game winning spurt, longest of the season, which hoisted them to the top only to start their descent.

In the other National League game Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati, 5-2, the game being halted after five innings by rain.

The Boston Red Sox defeated Washington in the only American League game, 6-3.

CHAPTER XXVIII

"Dan'l, have you noticed the way Faith looks at Brander?" the boy asked abruptly.

Dan'l had been half prepared for the question; nevertheless his fingers dug into his palms. He remained silent for a moment, thinking. His thoughts raced. His eyes fell on foul-tongued Slatter at the wheel. There was a piece of luck; an instrument ready to his hand.

Dan'l still hesitated for a space; his brows twisting. Then the man threw all decency behind him, and flung himself at last into the path toward which his feet had been tending. He moved to one side, so that Roy, in facing him, must also face the man at the wheel; so that Roy's words would come to Slatter's ears. And Dan'l was very sure that Slatter would take care to hear.

For another moment he did not speak; then he laughed harshly.

"What do you mean, Roy?" he asked.

"I mean the way Faith looks at Brander all the time," Roy repeated.

Dan'l Tobey seemed to be embarrassed; he looked to right and left, and he said huskily:

"Shucks! I guess you've got too much imagination, Roy."

Roy shook his head.

"No, I haven't, either. I've been watching her. She looks at him, and her eyes get kind of misty like; and if you say something to her, sometimes she doesn't hear you at all."

"She's got a right to think," Dan'l chuckled. "You talk too much, anyway, Roy. No wonder she don't listen to you."

His tone was good-natured. Roy fell silent for a moment, studying Dan'l's face; and Dan'l looked confused.

"Dan'l!" Roy said sharply. "Haven't you seen, yourself, what I mean? Haven't you, Dan'l?"

Dan'l turned his head away; he would not meet Roy's eyes.

"I knew you saw it!" Roy cried. "Everybody must see it!"

"Roy, you'd best not see too much," Dan'l said sternly. "It don't pay. There's times when it's wise to see little and say nothing. If it was me, I'd say this was one of the times."

"That's all right," Roy admitted. "But I can't talk to you, Dan'l. Noll Wing is too old for Faith. She ought to have married you, Dan'l."

Children have a disconcerting way of sticking a word like a knife into our secret hearts; they see so clearly, and they have not yet learned to pretend they do not see. Roy, for all his eighteen years, was still as much child as man; and Dan'l winced.

"Land, Roy!" he protested. "Get that idea out of your head. Faith and me understand—"

Roy turned his back, looking aft. Dan'l glanced toward Slatter at the wheel. Slatter's back was toward them; but Dan'l could have sworn the man's ears were visibly pricking to miss no word. Dan'l's eyes burned unpleasantly.

A woman's strongest armor is her innocence. If Faith were tarnished in the eyes of the men in the fo'c's'le, she would have few defenders there. The roughest man will honor a good woman; but he looks upon one who is soiled with contemptuous or greedy eyes. Dan'l was willing, for his own ends, that the fo'c's'le should think evil of Faith Wing.

While they stood thus, Brander came on deck, and spoke for a minute with Dan'l, then went slowly forward. Because he and Dan'l clashed so sharply, Brander had fallen into the way of spending much time amidships with the harpooners, or forward with the crew. Dan'l's place was aft. Roy watched Brander as he spoke to the mate, watched him walk away. When Brander was gone, Dan'l looked toward Roy.

"Dan'l," Roy said quietly, "if Brander tries to—do anything, to my sister, I'm going to kill him!"

Dan'l said nothing; and Roy moved abruptly past him and went below.

He was not seeking Faith; but he came upon her there, in the main cabin. She was at the table with a book and paper and pen. He stopped to look over her shoulder, and saw that she was making calculations—latitude and longitude.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

She looked up at him.

"Studying navigation, Roy. Don't you want to?"

He stared at her.

"What are you doing it for?"

"Because I want to. Besides, it's a good thing to be able to find out where you are on a world as big as this."

He flung himself into a chair across from his sister.

"Look here, Faith, why do you keep looking at Brander all the time?"

Faith was startled; she was startled not so much as what Roy said, as at what his words revealed to her. Nevertheless her voice was steady and quiet as she asked:

"What do you mean, Roy?"

"The way you look at Brander. He's not fit for you to talk to, to look at—anything. He's not fit to be around you."

She laughed at him.

"How do I look at Mr. Brander, Roy?" she asked.

"Why, like—"

Roy groped for words. Faith was suddenly afraid of what he might say. She interrupted him.

"Don't be silly, Roy! Go away. Don't bother me. I'm busy with this, Roy."

"You—" he began.

But she bent over her book; she paid him no attention for a moment.

Roy, sitting opposite, studied the top of her head, and thought. There was an expression in his eyes as if he were trying to remember something familiar that evaded him. In the silence, they could hear Cap'n Wing snoring in his cabin; they could hear old Tichel stir in his bunk at the other side of the ship; they could hear the muffled murmur of the voices of the harpooners in the steerage, and all about them the timbers of the Sally creaked and groaned as they yielded to the tug of wind and sea. Roy still stared with a puzzled frown at the top of Faith's brown head. Faith did not look up from her book.

Suddenly Roy cried in a low voice:

"Faith, I know! You look at Brander just like you used to look at Noll Wing when we were kids!"

Faith went white. She rose to her feet so swiftly that the book was overturned on the table, the loose sheets of paper fluttered, the pen rolled across to the edge of the table and fell and struck on its point in the cabin floor.

With a motion swift as light, forgetting book and paper and pen, she slipped across into the after cabin. She shut the door in Roy's face, and he heard her slip the catch upon it.

Roy stared at the closed door; then he went abstractedly around the table and pulled the pen loose from the floor. The steel point was twisted, spoiled.

The Sally came abruptly into a sea that was full of whales. At nightfall they had not smelled oil for weeks; at dawn there were spouts on three-quarters of the horizon; and thereafter for more than a month there were never three successive days when they did not sight whales.

This turn of the luck brought three things to pass—Roy Kilcup had his first chance in the boats during the chase; Brander killed his first whale as an officer of the Sally; and Noll Wing killed the last calchot that was ever to feel his lance.

Dan'l Tobey had promised Roy, at the time when Brander was promoted to be mate, that he would give the boy a chance in his boat. He put Roy on the after thwart, under his own eye, and Roy leaned to the oar and pulled with all his might, and bit his lip to hold back the sobbing of his breath. The boy came of whaling stock; his father and his father's father had been men of the sea. He did not turn white when the boat's bow slid at last alongside a slumbering black mass, and the keen harpoons choked home.

That first experience of Roy's was a mild one. The whale, a fairish blub, showed no fight whatever. He took the iron as a baby takes soothing-syrup; and he lay still while they pulled alongside and prodded him with a lance. At the last, when his spout was a crimson fountain, he gave one gigantic forward leap; but he was dead not ten fathoms from the spot where he lay when the first harpoon went home. Thereafter there was only the long toil of towing the monster back to the ship for the cutting in.

A small affair, without excitement; yet big for Roy. It worked a change in the boy. He came back to the ship no longer a boy, but the makings of a man. He spoke loftily to Faith. He brushed shoulders with the men on equal terms and was proud to do so, altogether forgetting the days when he had liked to think himself their superior and to order them around.

Brander entered to the new mood in the boy; he told Cap'n Wing in Roy's hearing that the youngster would make a whaleman, that he had never seen any one so cool at the striking of his first whale. Roy swelled visibly.

Brander's initiation as an officer of the Sally came at the same time; and a bit of luck made it possible for the fourth mate to prove his mettle. When they sighted spouts in three quarters, that morning, the mate had chosen to go after a lone bull; old Tichel and Brander attacked a small pod to the eastward; and Willis Cox went north to try a fish there.

Brander gave Tichel right of way, since the old man was his superior officer; and they came upon the pod with a matter of seconds to choose between them. The whales were disappointingly small; nevertheless, Tichel attacked the largest, and Brander took the one that fell to him. His irons went home a moment after Tichel's; his whale leaped into the first blind struggle, not fleeing, but fighting to shake off the iron.

Now it is customary among whalemen to wait till this first flurry has passed, to allow the whale to run out his own strength, and then pull in for the finishing stroke. But Brander was ambitious; the whale was small. He changed places with Loum, and shouted orders to his men to haul in the loose coils of line that had been thrown over with the irons. The whale was circling, rolling, striking with its flukes; it had not seen them, gave them no heed, but the very blindness of its struggle made it a greater menace.

They drew in on the whale; and Loum at the steering-oar swung Brander against the monster's flank. Brander got home his lance in three thrusts before they were forced to draw clear to avoid the whale's renewed struggles. But those three were enough; the spout crimsoned; he loosed and backed away from the final flurry, and the whale was dead ten minutes from the time when the first iron went home.

That was exploit enough to prove Brander's ability; his quick kill marked him as a man who knew his job. He could have afforded to be content; but when his whale was an out and he looked around, he was in time to see trouble come upon James Tichel.
